

Growing the Knowledge Commons: Practical, Applied Research for Co-operative Enterprises

The International Centre for Co-operative Management's research is:

- Multi-disciplinary, international and collaborative focused on understanding the contributions of co-operatives to a fair and just world.
- Leveraging theory and practice to prove the co-operative advantage as it relates to leadership, governance and management practice.
- Positioning co-operatives to tackle global challenges with emphasis on sustainable development, circular economy and complex networks.

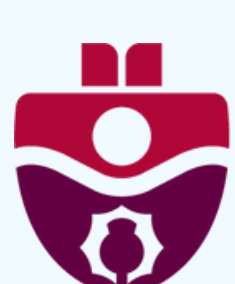

The Centre's ongoing international research on co-operative governance shines a spotlight on best practice through a case study series.
